

Has your child lost their Medicaid or CHIP benefits?

Here's where to start:

1 Contact your state Medicaid agency or your health plan to update your address, phone number, and email address. You can do this by phone or on your state's Medicaid website.

2 Contact your state Medicaid agency or your health plan to find out about your child's coverage.

If you did not get a letter about your child's coverage ending, ask them to send a letter.

If you got a letter that says your child's Medicaid or CHIP benefits are ending, check to see if there is a renewal form you can send back to keep your child's benefits, and make sure to send it back before the deadline date.

3 Find other health insurance options if your child doesn't qualify for Medicaid or CHIP anymore.

Some people may qualify for more affordable health plans through the Health Insurance Marketplace®.

How much you can save is based on your household income and how many people are in your household.

All Marketplace plans cover things like prescription drugs, doctor visits, urgent care, hospital visits, and more.
